DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see pages 5-6, filed February 23, 2007, with respect to claims 1, 3, 5-7 have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejection of claims 1, 3, 5-7 has been withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3, 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McMinn et al (US 5,734,672).

Regarding claim 1,

Figure 3C illustrates a laser source arrangement including a laser source (30), an auxiliary electrical component (149), as illustrated the laser source and auxiliary electrical component are mounted onto a general plane submount (148), where the longest dimension of auxiliary electrical component (149) is orthogonal to the general plane of the submount.

Regarding claim 3,

Regarding claim 7,

Figure 3A illustrates the laser source arrangement also including a PCB, which will inherent provide an electrically conductive area or pad for the laser source (30) and the auxiliary electrical component (149).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C 103(a) as being unpatentable over McMinn et al (US 5,734,672).

McMinn et al discloses the claimed invention except for said at least one auxiliary electrical component being mounted onto said submount by means of conductive glue.

However, it is notoriously well known to attach lasers and electrical components to the PCB by use of conductive glue or adhesive such as solder, as implied by McMinn et al in column 5 lines 1-5.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McMinn et al (US 5,734,672) in view of Lee et al. (US Patent No. 5854867).

McMinn et al discloses the claimed invention except for the auxiliary electrical component being in a form of an SMD component. Lee discloses in Fig. 1B a mounting arrangement with a laser source 22, a submount 6, and an auxiliary component 32 associated with the laser source. It would have been obvious to the one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the electrical auxiliary component being in a form of SMD as taught by Lee in order to replace the component easily in case it fails to work in the future.
